“ Fred’s spirit has transcended this time and place, and your undeniable resilience still commands. Momma- your consistent humility and dependence on your faith in God remain unchallengeable. If we are talking on the phone or texting and I go a little farther to the left, in one of my rants, you always remind me that certain actions are understandable but understandable is not always related to doing what is right. I love you past the moon and the stars! Thanks for understanding my absence. You know if you call...I’ll make it happen.

“ Prayers for the Sargent and all who knew Freddie. John and I have many , many memories of Freddie. I remember a photo we took one time after Freddie got off work and came by our house. He was still in uniform and having a drink when I put a purple pimp daddy hat on him with a zebra strip band. He told me to get rid the photo but we still have it. When Freddie came to Texas to work John introduced him as his twin brother. He was apart of our family and was truly thought thought of as John’s brother. Everyone who knew Freddie loved him. He was such a kind, caring person.
