Keesha was a precious girl. Always smiling. She loved my brother, her classmate no matter what. For that I am grateful. Thank you Keesha for being my brother's friend. Thank you for being the precious angel you were. I will always remember you growing up on the hill. Rest dear. You have earned your wings and halo.

“ Lakesha and I got to talk about a month ago. We got to catch up with each other's lives. We talked for about an hour when she first came into the nursing facility I work in. We saw each other almost everyday while she was there. I am thankful she is with our Lord and Savior. She is walking again without pain. She is smiling down on us like she knows a secret that we will find out in our own time. She is our guardian angel and I for one am happy to know she is watching over me. We will miss you Kesha. We will see you again my friend.

“ Rest in Peace Keisha. Your suffering is over and your body is whole again. I know you are walking the streets of gold with the good Lord up above. You always had a beautiful smile on your face and I will never forget it. Until we meet again.
